

v. Sub CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Among various crimes, murder is not known as capital crime. And almost all countries hold death to be the ultimate punishment for a murderer. This punishment is known as capital punishment. Apart from murder, many countries designate other types of crimes as capital crime for eg, in many countries stealing is known as the capital crime. But most of the countries hold murder particularly planned murder, kidnapping a man for murdering and various conspiracy that will make the life of the people horrible in our country — all these are regarded as capital crime and for this crimes death is the ultimate punishment.

Almost all the theories regarding punishments prefer death of the murderer or of the conspirator. We think that when one person kills another person then he must be sentenced to death. For the revenge for a murder is only the death of the murderer. Apart from we have to keep him in mind that in order to free our society for all these capital crimes, we have to introduce the law of death in our country's code.

But opinions are not unanimous on this point. For in the eye of an ordinary man, the life of is nothing valuable in the world than life. Life is the gift of God so we no right to snatch away a life from the Universe as we can't gift a life like God. Once a person is dead he can be brought back. ^{Are we sure} How much you about the my number of views regarding this topic and it is very difficult for us to reach an accurate conclusion.

~~ARGUMENTS~~ ARGUMENTS IN FAVOUR OF CAPITAL PUNISHMENT —

1) Supporters of this view said that capital punishment is very much essential for freeing the world from capital crime and also to create a panic among all men so that they ~~can't~~ will think a lot before doing a murder.

2) Persons against this view will say that the punishment of the murderer mustn't be death but lifelong imprisonment.
But against this view the supporters of capital punishment said that there is no ed to bear the ^{for the} burden of a murderer or why the innocent people will bear the burden of a murderer who is an unwanted person in the society. Again someone will tell that a murderer can be brought into normal life after a lifelong imprisonment. But the supporters of the previous view said that practically it's not possible.

But the supporters of the second view held that this type of mean mentality is not acceptable in a civilised ~~society~~ society. It is more ~~society~~ necessary to bring a criminal in the normal stream of life rather than to punish him death.

~~iii)~~ AGAINST ~~if~~ The opponents of this view said that, capital punishment denies the value of life. Capital punishment is also a type of murder which can be designated as a kind of social murder, for it takes away the life of a person who is a member of our society.

~~Something~~

Some person thinks that the only way to take revenge on a ~~murderer~~ ^{sentence} murderer is to punish him death. But ~~it is not expected from~~ this kind of inhuman actions is not expected from a civilised society of today's world.

ii) ^{By giving punishment to death it is not possible} also to compensate the loss of the family whose member has been killed by a ~~terrorist~~ murderer. So capital punishment is not the only way to punish a murderer.

iii) The supporters of capital punishment said earlier that it creates a fear among people and thus they ~~are~~ remain far away from such ~~crime~~ But in answer the opponents said that capital punishment is not ^{the} only way to prevent a person from capital crimes. Again ^{the} it is ^{the} aim of the Govt of a country to prevent capital crime by giving capital punishment then why it is not telecast on the television so that people of the country can see it and try to prevent themselves from such crimes as far as possible? But in practical ^{life} these capital punishment is practised in hidden place. So it is clear that it is not the aim of capital punishment to prevent our society from capital crimes.

iv) Again there is discrimination in the practise of capital punishment. For a lack of evidence and ignorant person is sentenced to death by the court and if he is poor then it is not possible for him to claim himself as an ignorant by investing a lumpsum of or huge amount original criminal if he is rich then ^{by} investing huge amount of ^{can save himself} money ^{from} such a punishment. So ^{we} find that there is no equality in ^{the} practise of capital punishment. ¹ ~~2~~

Lastly it is advocated by the opponents it is better to culminate education among such criminals so that they can lead a normal life in future rather than to end ~~over~~ a life by capital punishment
